

From: Tony Cooper
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/17/01 12:06am
Subject: Sad

It is sad when multi billion $ corporations can buy the government off for breaking a few laws & running others out of business whilst still being able to sue other people who break laws by utilising software microsoft since abandoned.

Obviously there is not Justice in America anymore &
It's things like this that attract people to doing unlawful things in the pursuit of their own justice.

As a person who used to sell microsoft products & know first hand the deceit that is employed to generate revenue, I am saddened to see that truth & justice now take a back seat to the American way of greed.

I use a text based client that complies with the standards relating to email & not microsoft products or a web browser to read my email.
As a result I appreciate not receiving html or microsoft products in my email as do millions of other people who use clients that comply to the standards.